FREW & CAMPBELL.

Rev. Samuel Steele tackled Bishor Kain's sermon on the True Church at the North Street M. E. Church on Sunday last pretty vigorously. He intends to continue his remarks next Sunday. He wound up his sermon with the following remark:

"As I intend returning to this subject next Sunday, and speak of the church, its foundation, members, &c., I will conclude by saying that in consequence of the spread of Romanism in the United States and its political power, we must study this controversy, and as Protestants be pre-pared to stand up for God and the truth, as it is in our Lord Jesus Christ."

Speaking of Mr. Steele's sermon, we ay quote here the following opinion of may quote here the following opinion of a Methodist writer in regard to Lent:

"We read a good deal about "Lent" during these days, but we see no attempt to prove that our Lord's "forty days" of temptation were by him commanded to be observed with fasting. It is a mode of imitating Christ which has been made very easy in these times; but we cannot find any Scriptural authority for this class of imitations. If they are based on the reasonableness of it, we should perceive greater reasonableness in abstaining from all the luxuries of modern life, not "forty days" only, but always. Selecting this particular incident in the life of our Lord fora sham imitation, seems to be without reasonableness to be without reasonableness. ticular incident in the life of our Lord for a sham imitation, seems to be without rea-sonableness and a way of substituting a pretended penance of the flesh or obe-dience of the spirit. Every one knows that Lent is a sham so far as fasting is con-cerned; our Lord would not have "begun to be an hungered" after his "forty days," if he had lived upon the luxuries which these sham imitators allow themselves. these sham imitators allow themselves during their "fast."

It is a Perfect Substitute for Internal The proposition that the Ohio Legislature license a lottery scheme for the relief of the bankrupt Archbishop Purcell has called forth a remonstrance which is being circulated for signatures by the evangelical ministerial association of Cincinnati. By the way, Mr. Beccher's nead appears to be "level" on the church lottery question of the way is a broken the way of a buish smoke.

There will be no overcharging and no obteating in making change. Gambling, lying and cheating in making are worse in a church fair than anywhere else.
